By Telegraph to The Times.

MADRID, April 10.—[By Cable and Associated Press.] The arrival of the Carlst leader, the Marquis of Erraibo, at Valencia today, was made the occasion of an anti-Carlist demonstration. Thousands of anti-Carlists met at the station and followed the Marquis to his hotel. They smashed many windows and tried to set fire to the hotel when a detachment of the state of the sta tried to set fire to the hotel when a detachment of troops charged and dispersed the mob. Many persons were wounded.

A mob of 2000 persons invaded the Carlist Uidb and set fire to the furniture. When the firemen came the mob tried to obstruct them. Another mob tried to burn a church, but was prevented by a detachment of troops.

The troops have failed, however, to disperse the constantly gathering crowds, which have built two barricades in the streets. The military authorities have taken possession of the city and the whole garrison is under arms.

VALENCIA, April 10.—Midnight.—Rloting continues. The troops have made several charges. Many persons have been injured and some killed, though orders were align to a void bloodshed as long as possible.

Several members of the Carlist crowd fired revolvers into the anti-Carlist crowd, and three were wounded. The mob also attempted to attack the Jesuit College. Order was restored after midnight. The troops occupy various points throughout the city.

EXPLORER STANLEY.

He Thinks Emin Will Not Try to

Eject the Mandists. BRINDISI, April 10 .- By Cable and As sociated Press. | Stanley has arrived here en route to Brussels. Speaking of Emin Pasha Stanley said he did not believe he would attempt to reconquer the equatorial province. An immense effort, he dediared, would be necessary to eject the Machists, who have overrun the province.

With reference to the claim made by the Germans to territory in Africa, Stanley aid he was astonished at their pretensions.

LONDON, April 10.—The Herald prints an interview with Stanley, in which the latter maintains that the Germans influenced Emin while he was sick. Stanley thinks the Germans intend to annex, and will act on these plans. If Germany secures the lake regions, he says it will destroy the whole value of the British coast possessions. The conquest of Soudan would cost 23,000,000, and no government in Europe has the stamina to undertake it.

Japan Still Negotiating with Foreign Powers

San Francisco, April 10.—[By the Associated Press.] The steamer Oceanic arrived today from China and Japan. She brings the following news from the latter ountry:

Trenty negotiations are still going on, and it is even reported that fresh proposals were sent home by the last French mail steamer. They are believed to be less favorable to foreigners than were the last. Owing to the scarcity of snow this winter, anticlipations generally point to a poor wheat harvest in J. pun this year.

The Premier's Unpleasant Adven

MONTE CARLO, April 10.—[By Cable and Associated Press.] The English colony is agitated at an "indignity" to which the British premier and wife were subjected last night at the Casino. It seems that Lord and Lady Salisbury appeared at the entrance to the Casino without tickets and entrance to the Casino without tickets and admission was refused them.

Lord Salisbury sent for the British Consul and demanded an interview with the Casino officials. On the arrival of the Consul explanations were made and tickets were promptly procured.

At the same time the officials made the humblest apologies for the inconvenience and discovery to which the distinguished visitors had been exposed. But Lord Salisbury's indignation could not be appeased. As his identity had been doubted, he produced a blank passport, signed it officially in the presence of the abashed and apologetic officials and stalked away, refusing to enter the Casino.

THE NEW CRUISER.

The Charleston Goes to Sea for s

SAN FRANCISCO, April 10.—[By the As-SAN FRANCISCO. April 10.—[By the Associated Press.] There was considerable excitement along the water front last evening when the new cruiser Charleston came down from Mire Island Navy-yard. The Charleston came to anchor about 6 o'clock in line with the revenue cutter Richard Rush and United States coast-survey steamer Hasler. She was saluted by all the shipping and ferry-boats in the harbor, and just as she dropped her anchor the various shipping and ferry-boats in the harbor, and just as she dropped her anchor the various church bells in the city tolled out the "Angelue." Oakland steamers sounded their whisties and went a little out of their course to get a closer view of the craiser. The men cheered and ladies waved their handkerchiefs. The Charleston's band responded with the "Star-spangled Banner." Everything on board was as neat as could be desired. Her main battery of six guns frowned on the bay and two small machine guns were swung in the military masts nioft.

At sunset the colors were lowered to the music of "Columbia," and the gans and armament were covered for the night. The Charleston went to sea this morning about 9 o'clock. She will make a six hours' run and retnrn this evening.

Little Rhody's Frisky Solons. PROVIDENCE (R. I.), April 10.—There was an exciting time in the House of Representatives today. The Democrats came resent-tives today. The Democrats came within one vote of adopting the $50 license fee for the sale of beer and light wines. The Republicans thought this was done to win the German-American vote. Dilatory tactics were adopted by the Republicans, some of whom ran out of the State House with the Sheriff chasing them. Speaker Miller (Dem.) counted the absent members in the negative. After great excitement, the House adjourned.

HOLDING THE FORT.

BISHOP ESHER DECLINES TO BE SUPPRESSED.

Barred Out of the German Evangelican Conference, He Marches His Band to Another Hall and Presides.

By Telegraph to The Times.
CHICAGO, April 10.—[By the Associated Press.] The meeting of the German Evangelical Church Illinois Conference, which opened this morning in the Sheffield-avenue Church, was inaugurated, as anticipated, with a row. Bishop Esher, who was regu-larly assigned to preside over the conference, was on hand early with his supporters. The majority of the conference decided that he had been deposed by the Pennsylvania trial committee and excluded him from the trial committee and excluded him from the meeting. After this there was a most acrimonious debate in the church, ending in 33 of Eaher's supporters withdrawing and garing to the Caurch-street Church. After a little formal business the remainder, numbering about seventy, took a recess until afternoon, at which time, after december.

bering about seventy, look a recess until alternoon at note. It was after dexistions exercises, they adjourned until temorrow. The Esher faction organized, and Rev. Mr. Esfrial made a motion that a notice be sent to the preachers in the other faction that if they desired to join the real and only conference, they be given until 2 o'clock tomorrow to do so, after which time all remaining out shail be expelled from the church. Bishop Esher made a statement of the case from his standpoint, pointing out that at the first trial be was acquitted of the charges brought against him, but that the Pennsylvania Conference took the matter up again. He had received no evidence of an official character that he had been deposed, and he still claimed the right to preside at the Illinois Conference, from which they had been driven out.

A telegram from Bishop Bowman at Ackley, Iowa, announced that the "boiters" there were making desperate epposition to him, but that he was holding the fort. This was received with cheers.

Resolutions prepared by Rev. Mr. Wellman were unanimously adopted. They sustained Bishops Esher and Bowman, and condemn the action of the opposing faction in endeavoring to form an illegal organization as revolutionary. The so-called trials of Esher and Bowman are declared to be contrary to the directions of discipline, and therefore null and void.

BOTH SQUEALED.

Two Wicked Brothers Make a Remarkable Confession DALLAS (Tex.), April 10.—[By the Associated Press.] Charles and "Commodore" Miller, indicted for robbing an express or on the Texas and Pacific road, near this city, a year ago, were placed on trial today. After the robbery no clew could be obtained to the perpetrators. Several months later the Millers were arrested for another crime. Charles turned State's evidence, and confessed that he and his brother committed the express robbery; that they had r ped two white women, robbed stores and residences, and sand-bagged pedestrians.

The case has been tried from time to time, but without coming to a conviction or acquittal. "Commodore" had siways until to-my maintained his innocence, but when he learned that Charles had urned State's evidence and would go free, he hastened to confess himself, and toid of more crimes than Charles had made known. This caused a sensation in court, and the case was adjourned until the 12th.

Still Worrying the Sugar Trust.
New York, April 10.—Henry Winthrop
Gray, receiver of the North River Sugar
Refluery Company, has instituted another Refinery Company, has instituted another proceeding against the sugar trust, in which he makes all members of the Sugar Refining Company defendants. It is asserted that the trust is a copartnership, and the deed or agreement under which it was organized is illegal and has been so pronounced by the courts. Gray asks for an accounting, a receivership of all the companies in the trust, dissolution of the trust and distribution of the assets. The defendants hold the complaint insufficient. Judge Ingraham heard arguments. Decision was reserved.

Stanford and Huntington Will Not Talk.

Creed Haymond Evidently at Outs with the New Regime.

Southern Pacific's Counsel in Defense of His Former Master.

He Says Stanford Wants to Go to the Senate Again, and Will Get There Without the Rallway.

By Telegraph to The Times.
SAN FRANCISCO, April 10.—[By the Associated Pres.] Both Senator Stanford and C. P. Huntington declined to be interviewed today when newspaper representatives sought to inquire into the personal differences that are said to have arisen between the two men.

Creed Haymond, general solicitor of the company, was asked: "What do you think will be Mr. Huntington's policy in the administration of the affairs of the company?"

pany?"
"Well, he has already announced his well, he has already announced his policy. Whether he will be able to carry it out or not. I can't tell. May be the young men of the State could tell. They are the people who are now running things."

"What are the facts of the interview between Crocker, Huntington and Stanford in New York, when the proposition that Stanford should resign is said to have been first made?"

in New York, when the proposition that Stanford should resign is said to have been first made?"

"You know there has been feeling between Huntington and Stanford for some time. When Col. Crocker went East he hoped to smooth over the troubles. He returned thinking he had done so. So this thing is as much a surprise to him as to anybody else. I did not read all of Mr. Huntington's remarks before the board of directors. I read only as far as his reference to Mr. Stanford's election as United States Senator. There was not a cent of this company's money used for that purpose, though Mr. Huntington may think so. It sometimes happens that a railroad company may think it wise to contribute to the funds of one or both parties. A large corporation like this has very many sources of expense which are not generally known."

"Who will be your successor as head of the two departments, Mr. Haymond?"

"Harvey S. Brown will be the man, I think."

"Is it true, as has been said, that your resignation was caused by the fact that you were a close friend of Senator Stanford and aided him in his political ambition. The ful history of that campaign never has been published. Some day it may all come out, and then it will be seen that his interes: were those of the State. He had to accept the nomination to save the Republican party from ulter ruin and destruction. The reason why Sargent was not elected Senator is known probably to only three men in all the world. CENTRAL AMERICAN UNITY.

The Five States to Form One Republic.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 10.—[By the Associated Press.] A Washington special says: Dispatches received by the Costa Rican Minister to the United States state that the Congress of that republic will at its session in June ratify the provisional treaty of union between the five republics of Central American Thus far three of the republics have confirmed the action of their representatives in assenting to such a treaty, Gautemais, Honduras and Salvador falling into line, and Nicaragua is expected to limitate their example when opportunity is afforded its Congress.

According to the first article a Central American diet convened by the respective governments of Central America proclaims potitical unification of the States of Central America. This republic will be The Five States to Form One Repotitical unification of the States of Central America under the title of the Republic of Central America. This republic will be represented by a general government, at the head of which will be one of the presidents of the five States' confederation, the choice to be determined by lot on September 15, 1890, when the general government will begin its functions. Costa Rica, Guatemals, Honduras, Nicaragna and Salv. dor will abandon the title of republics and take the denomination of States of the Republic of Central America.

It being of the greatest importance to promote and stimulate by all possible means facilities for transportation and communication between the States, the gener I government will authorize bridge building across the rivers, increase telegraph lines and the establishment of telephones. A premium of seventy thousand dollars or more will be paid for the first steamship company, as ion: for foreign, to establish in the Pacific service four steamers, each of 500 tons capacity, between Central American ports, Acapuico and Panama, under conditions and tariff- previously stipulated. From September 18, 1890, the traffic between the States of Central America will be entirely free, so far as products and manufactures are concerned, but privileged goods and those of unlawful trade cannot be imported.

A Remarkably Bad Display by Stockton and Oakland.

Stockton and Oakland.

San Francisco, April 10.—[By the Associated Press.] There was a remarkable exhibition of ball at the Haight-street grounds this aftersoon. The O klands defeated the Stockton by a score of 23 to 31, after Stockton had twice won the game. There were few brilliant plays, a great many glaring errors, some hard hitting and poor pitching and infielding. It was any body's game up to the last inning. The Oaklands started up with a rush and it looked like a sure thing for the men from across the bay, but the Stockton's braced up and obtained the lead. Then the Stockton men played a little worse than their opponents and allowed the Oaklands to pass them, and with eight runs in the eighth inning Oakland won the game. In the sixth inning, after nine hits had been made off Cahill. Chase was put in to pitch for the Stocktons and finished the game. Cobb was batted out of the box, and in the eighth inning Meegan took his place.

A Dispute Over Diseased Cattle.

A Dispute Over Diseased Cattle. CHICAGO, April 10.—The long-standing dispute between the city authorities and the dispute between the city authorities and the State Board of Live Stock Commissioners in regard to the disposition of lumpy-jawed cattle reached a crisis this merning, when H. C. McChesney, a member of the board, served a paper upon the Mayor demanding protection for the removal of 19 head of cattle, condemned by the city health authorities as diseased, from the pen in which they were quarantined in the stock yards. The city officials finally allowed thermoval, it being the opinion of the corporation counsel that it would be injudiclous for the city to interfere with State officers in the matter.

THE BUG FIGHT.

An Effort for a Change in the Horticultural Commission.
The application made to the Board of Supervisors a few days ago for a change in the personnel of the Horticultural Commission will be taken up again this afternoon, when it is probable that a strong fight will be made, directed principally against Mr. Driffil of Pomona, who, it is claimed, has imported most of the Florida scale brought to this State on nursery stock. Mr. Cass of Vernon, who called at Mr. Cass of Vernon, who caned at the Times office yesterday, says that Mr. Weiss, the new inspector, accom-panied by Commissioner Kercheval, made an examination of his place the other day, and that subsequently Weiss admitted to him that they found every parasite that Mr. Cass had claimed. Mr. Cass thinks this amounts claimed. Mr. Cass thinks this amounts to a back-down for the commission, and he claims that his place is now practically free from scale.

A committee of the Southern California Pomological Society has addressed the following letter to the boards of supervisors of the counties of San Bernardino, San Diego, Orange, Santa Barbara and Ventura, inclosing the resolutions passed at Pomona.

of San Bernardino, San Diego, Orange, Santa Barbara and Ventura, inclosing the resolutions passed at Pomona, April 3d:

The impending danger which threatens the horticultural interests of Southern California, in the importation of nursery stock coming from well-known infected localities, has assumed proportions which demand immediate and prompt attention, and such legislation as is calculated to remedy the evil. Up to date some six or seven new scales have been found on imported shrubs, trees and plants, among them the purple scale of Florida, which Prof. Hubbard in his report pronounces universal in that State in all orchards over two years old, the long scale of Florida, and also the red scale. In many cases these scales have been discovered on trees planted upward of a vear, that have been passed upon by the inspectors as pure, dipped and washed; while in other instances they have been discovered for the most part on the young trees as they are brought into the country. This state of things has alarmed the growers throughout Southern California, and several meetings have been held to devise ways and means to cradicate all scale already existing, and to enact rigid quarantine legislation that will prohibit importation of infested stock, coming either from abroad or from other States, into this section. At a meeting of the Southern California Pomological Society, held at Pomona, which was largely attended by upward of 150 leading fruit-growers, the inclosed resolutions were unanimousy adopted, and the undersigned committee was instructed to lay them before the boards of supervisors of the six southern counties and ask that immediate action be taken, and that the provisions of the same be compiled with.

and water courses a month ago, caused by the heavy storms of the winter, but it is beginning to take shape once more, and will soon be one of the best driving streets in the city.

The first point visited was Centennial avenue, and the board was met at the corner of Centennial and Bellevue avenues by a delegation of citizens, who are anxious to have Centennial avenue graded and some provision made for storms next winter. The board made a thorough examination of the street, and decided to order the Street Suprintendent to run aditate to Temple street, and an ordinance changing the grade to conform with Temple street, and ordering the street paved.

Rosas street was visited. It is being graded, and will be a pretty little street in a few weeks.

J. M. Stewart and other property-owners on Figueroa street have put down good sidewalks between Twenty-second and Thirty-second streets, under the old grade, and do not want to lower their sidewalks. After examining the sidewalks, the board came to the conclusion that it will not be necessary to lower the sidewalks.

Ex-Officer Lehart and His Vein of Patsy Lehart, one of the policemen let out by the recent retrenchment ordinance, has been missing from the city for some weeks past. Yesterday he drove up to the police station in a hack, looking considerably bronzed from exposure in the open air, and, calling Chief Glass out to the sidewalk, announced that he had struck it rich and is now a millionaire.

For some time past Lebart has been respecting for each in the mountains.

For some time past Lehart has been prospecting for coal in the mountains in this section, and claims to have discovered a vein that will make his fortune. He declines to say just where his bonanza is located, until he can make some arrangements for developing it, but insists that he has one of the biggest things in the State. Lehart is a practical miner, and was one of the pioneers of Leadville, Colo., and made a great deal of money during the mining boom in that place, at one time being able to draw his check for $150,000. He afterward lost his money in speculation, and drifted to California, securing a place on the police force in this city through the influence of men who had known him in flush times. Lehart's true name is Dillon, by which he was known in Colorado.

But Enough People Were in Ho Water for All That-A Man Who Couldn't Pay His Fine Let Off-A Big Foreclosure Suit.

Judge McKinley, in Department No. 5 of the superior Court, heard a habeas corpus matter in the morning, wherein James Riley sought to be re-leased from jail, where he is serving a sentence for battery. He asked for his release on the ground that Justice Lockwood, who convicted him, is not a legally constituted official. Judge McKinley, however, could not see it in that light, and remanded the prisoner McKinley, however, could not see it in that light, and remanded the prisoner to jail to serve out his sentence.

The habeas corpus business is flourishing. Two more petitions will be heard before Judge McKinley this morning. The petitions call for the release of John Doe Beal and John Doe Smith. They are the result of a visit made by an attorney to the jail to see the prisoners. The jailer asked the attorney if he came to see his chents. He replied that he did, and the jailer then saw the men, who denied that the attorney was counsel for them. Thereupon the attorney was denied admission to see them. The habeas corpus proceedings followed.

The Board of Supervisors say they propose to see if the county cannot be reimbursed for the warrants sold by Henry Edelman to L. B. Cohen, and paid to the latter by the County Treasurer. Mr. Cohen has given bond for $5000 upon the attachment sult begun against aim by the board, and his store was yesterday opened again. His sureties are Mr. Jacoby and Mr. Harris of the London Clothing Company. The board holds that Mr. Cohen is responsible for the money received by him for the warrants, and at any rate they propose to test the matter in the courts.

they propose to test the matter in the courts.

C. W. Hale, a United States prisoner, was released by Judge Ross yesterday. He was convicted of selling liquor to Indians, and sentenced to six months' imprisoument and a fine of $100, to remain in jail until the fine was paid. He served the six months, and has just served a month under the fine. Being without money or the means of getting any, he yesterday made affidavit to that effect before Judge Ross, stating that if his release depended upon payment of the fine he would serve for life. Under the circumstances, Judge Ross being satisfied of the truth of the statement, Hale was released.

AN HONEST LAWYER.

Justice Fox Paints an Ideal for the Profession.

Last night Justice Fox of the Sureme Court delivered a lecture to the Law Students' Association, at Judge Shaw's courtroom in the Jones block. The courtroom was crowded, and the event was a notable one in legal circles, from the admirable lecture delivered, and the large number of prominent atorneys who attended.

The lecture was not confined to a special branch of the law, but was devoted to a general discussion of the relation of the student to the study of relation of the student to the study of the law, his duties to himself, his client, and the courts. It was a plain, common-sense talk to the members of the association, but was none the less effective or eloquent from being simple in diction. It was frequently interrupted by applause, and was generally regarded as a strong incentive, not only to young attorneys, but to the older heads in the profession to uphold its honor and integrity and raise its standard.

The lecturer, in the beginning, spoke

The lecturer, in the beginning, spoke

if not possessed of physical and mental endurance to meet the strain he had better stop at the outset.

While the profession is a learned one and requires learning, still he did not regard a collegiste education as an absolute necessity, instancing the case of Chief Justice Marshall as one who had become a great lawyer without first a college education.

Referring to the duties of lawyers to clients, the lecturer and that he must above all things be faithful to his client. He scored the lawyers who attempt to win cases by trickery, by misleading the courts as to isw and facts, and camestly urged all lawyers to frown upon such practices and such alleged lawers. The lawyer must inspire confidence in himself by being true to himself, and always so live and act as to increase that confidence, and with energy and application success would surely follow.

The lecture was a plea for high aims and ambition in the practice of the profession, and that such principles carried out and lived up to will bring more success than a divergence from principles of honesty and integrity.

At its close there was au informal reception to Justice Fox, in which many of the young gentlemen and attorneys made his acquaintance, as well as that of Justice Sharpstein, who was also present.

Annual Meeting-President's Report

-A Good Showing.
The annual meeting of the stockholders of the University Bank of Los Angeles was held at its place of business April 8th, and the directors and officers of the past year were elected to fill the same positions for the ensuing year.

It is a pleasure to note the prosperity of the younger banks of the city, and to see the care that is being taken to build them up into institutions of magnitude. The following report of the president of the University Bank is well worthy of perusal:

Los Angeles, April 7, 1890.

George L Arnoud, Cash er.

You realize that we commenced business April 18, 1887, at a time when the depression of business in Southern California began. Of course, when we began we had no income, and for the first few months we were occupied in creating a business. In less than three years we have carried to our reserve fund $31,000 on a capital of $100,000, leaving a certain amount of earnings not yet due and collected.

The policy of this bank has been to declare no dividends, but to carry all earnings to a reserve. As our stock-holders do not need, or desire the dividends, the policy has met with their approval. After the reserve has reached $100,000 the policy can be chauged, so that the profits of the reserve can go to dividends and the profits of the capital stock again go to a reserve. GRORGE L. ARNOLD, Cash er.

profits of the capital stock again go to a reserve.

In this way an institution can be built up into a first-class business, possessing every desired element of safety. We could have realized larger profits by taking more risks in business, but it has been our fixed and invariable principle of safety first, and such profits as are consistent therewith. This is why we carry, and have carried, such large amounts of cash in proportion to our deposits.

With the hope that this meets with your approval, it is respectfully submitted.

R. M. WIDNEY, President.

an Exciting Chase at South Bid How the Engineer and Fire Saved Themselves-A Conducte and Brakeman Thrown-Oth Railroad Notes.

Rather a singular railroad accident courred two miles the other side of Rivera yesterday afternoon. A o struction train was working on a gra at that point, and after the engine i backed several flat cars up the grade it ran down a short distance and wa standing still when the engineer noticed two of the flat cars, which had broken loose from the train, coming down on him at a rapid rate. He and at a glance that he would have to ge out of the way or abandon his and he lit out for South Side as fast a he could, pushing a couple of flat cars ahead of him. He noticed that the conductor and a brakeman had boarded the runaway cars and thought they would be able to stop the cars before they reached South Side, and when he reached that station he ordered his freman to switch the runaway cars of and ditch them in case the conductor and brakeman had not succeeded in getting them under control. He was a little too late, however, for before the freman could carry out his orders he saw the runaway cars coming down the honor and integrity and raise its standard.

The lecturer, in the beginning, spoke of the necessity for a young man in deciding to study law to weigh his mental and physical capacity. He characterized this decision, boy though the student be, as the most important judicial act of his life; an act which he must perform conscientiously. If not fitted he should not attempt it.

Speaking of the admission of several of the members of the association by the Supreme Court, he called their attention to the fact that they must not fitted he should not attempt it.

He had a tribute to the profession and analyzed its duties and requirements, saying that, while the lawyer may not originate the subjects of the law, still he shapes them and in their interpretation stands alone.

He insisted over and over again that the first duty of a lawyer is to himself, and the practice of all the principles of life which go to make up manhood. He insisted that it is not only his duty to inculcate, but to enforce these principles.

The student must devote his life to labor; labor that is never ended. And if not possessed of physical and mental endurance to meet the strain he had better stop at the outset.

While the profession is a learned one and requires learning, still he did not regard a collegiate education as an absolute necessity, instancing the case of a south the first duty of a lawyer is to himself, and the principles of life which go to make up to the first duty of a lawyer is to himself, and the first duty of a law

Constable Boland was a native of Indiana, 25 years 3 months and is days old at the time of his death. He had been on the police force of this city for some years, but lately served as a "special" in Chinatown. He was a very popular young man, generous hearted and warmly esteemed by all who knew him. Even the Chinese regarded him as their friend, knowing that he would never knowingly mistreat or injure them.

The constables of this city will meet tonight to make arrangements for the funeral, which will take place Sunday afternoon from his late residence, 613 Banning street.

Officer Husten spent some time looking for the fellow, but was not successful in catching him.

THE Russian army is composed of very mixed materials. There are 400,000 heathers and 50,000 Moham-There are medans, the latter forming 70 per cent. of the Cossack regiments.

Now is the time to open First street We should not wait until business has been driven two or three blocks further south. Then it will be more difficult to put the enterprise through.

JAPAN is marching steadily ahead. A native paper states that the indebtedness of that government to foreign countries, which in 1879 amounted to $10,000,000, is now only $1,000,000.

STRANGERS coming to Los Angeles must form a queer opinion of our enterprise when they see an impassable barrier, in the shape of a hill, within two blocks of the business center.

WHEN Mr. Huntington got into a position to speak with authority, he promptly read the riot act to the 'wicked partners" at the corner of Fourth and Townsend. Will it be a fight, or a foot-race?

In England, which has always led in fast railroading, a speed of 87 miles an hour has been reached. From 87 to 100 is not very far, and perhaps that point will be attained before long, but who will care to travel at such speed?

THERE is said to be a growing sentiment in Cuba in favor of annexation to the United States. Whether the United States would care to annex Cuba is another question. Our political problem is at present sufficiently complicated.

IT is quite probable that, following Mr. Huntington's assumption of the presidency of the Southern Pacific Company, many semi-political hangers on of that corporation, including a few more or less able editors, will find their occupation gone.

THE opening of First street would be of almost incalculable value, not only to residents west of the city, but also to merchants around the business center, as it would enlarge our business area and keep business from being pushed further south.

HERE is a sad warning to the users of the "noxious weed":

of the "noxious weed":
The late Mrs. Danforth of Manchester,
England, aged 101 years, from her childhood until her death used a pound of dark plug chewing tobacco every week. She smoked regularly after each meal, and nearly every night would wake up and

Who can tell to what ripe age Mrs. D. might have attained had she been given to such pernicious habits.

THE Trombone, which "surpassess all other wind instruments," according to Mr. Webster's Dictionary, appears to be much chastened by its numerous failures and recent disappointments, and by the extreme short ness of the journalistic spring grass; yet it has not entirely forgotten its gopher-like cunning. It is now engaged in the sly work of approaching metallic margin of the pactolian stream by the tunneling process.

THE people of Seattle seem to be still possessed of plenty of enterprise. They are soon to vote for or against bonding their property for $1,300,000, of which $250,000 will be for street improvements, $775,000 for buying out a water company, $110,000 for fire purposes and $110,000 for sewerage. This does not look like a bursting boom, still, from all accounts, prices of real estate up there must have been pushed to the top notch, and we know too well what that means.

AGRICULTURAL DEPRESSION—THE CAUSES AND THE REMEDY.

What is the cause of the agricul tura depression which is so much com-plained of in the States east of the Rocky Mountains? This is certainly a most important question. It is diffi cult to believe that farming no longer pays throughout a large portion of the United States. Whence, then, the hard times among American farmers?

A very thorough attempt to solve this vexed problem is made in a state ment just issued by the Department of Agriculture, which has furnished advance copies to the press. The pres ent complaint among farmers is not confined to this country. It is almost universal among all nations. agricultural depression of Great Britain has probably been more severe than that of any other nation. That country has to contend with competition from all parts of the world, unrelieved by any taxation of imports. In our country, farmers and farm laborers certainly live in better style than those of any other country. There is a tendency to extravagance in town life that has been imitated in rural circles; hence much dissatisfaction with prevailing conditions. Compar isons are made with war or famine prices, and the farmer becomes impa-

Prices of farm produce, like those of any other article, depend upon the inexorable law of supply and demand. There has been an increase of produc tion in this country, even more rapid than the increment of population. The following statement shows the remarkable increase in 30 years in certain products of the farm, as reported by

During the past ten years the increase has still gone on. The corn crop now exceeds 2,000,000,000 bushels; wheat approximates 500,000,000; oats exceed 700,000,000 and hay and potatoes have increased in similar proportion. While the product may be three THE Iowa Senate yesterday rejected or four times as much, the population is less than three times as much, though the proportion of workers engaged in agriculture was larger then than now. Cattle and sheep have increased in even greater proportion, in numbers as well as in earlier maturity and greater yield of milk.

It is difficult to force a market abroad for a surplus of any product. Every nation is seeking to produce its own food, and, as far as possible, its raw materials. We cannot sell our crops abroad, as a rule, except to fill th gaps in supply that are made by bad which we have no control. We cannot extend our cotton fields without at once lowering the price of the staple In wheat, over-production has de stroyed the growers' profit. Wheat growing, says the department, "ha become a philanthropic mission for supplying cheap bread to Great Britian neouraging her manufacturers to keep wages on a low plane." area of the crop of 1889 included about ten million acres more than the home consumption of the year will require and the price at Liverpool has of late been the lowest for a century.

quote from the statement: We cannot force foreigners to buy our bread. There has been a mass of ineffable nonsense regarding "the markets of the world" for wheat. Less than a fourth of the people of the world eat wheat. Haif of the people of Europe scarcely know its taste, while few of the nations of Africa have any knowledge of it.

The production of meat has also advanced faster than population. Our export has grown, but prices have fallen, and are now lower than in any year since 1876, with one exception. Another cause of low prices the department finds in the combination of carriers and middlemen to absorb a large share of the proceeds of the sale of farm products. Retail consumers are paying almost as much for meat as when prices were much lower. Armies of middlemen prey upon producer and The men who gam consumer alike. ble in grain absorb a large part of the products of national industry. The share demanded by the army of middlemen often amounts to a confiscation of the grower's profit. Now, as to the remedy for this state of affairs. The department very wisely believes that the most effectual remed will be found in diversification of crops The statement contains the following on this branch of the subject:

on this branch of the subject:

Thus the staple products of agriculture by increase of farms, by railroad building and land settlement, and the increase of agricultural implements are grown to excess, while other products with which our farmers are not familiar are neglected and left to foreign labor to produce, while our own rural labor is only partially employed, or else in crowding production of these old staples, and still further lowering prices and intensifying dissatisfaction with the results of agricultural effort. It is futile to attempt to defy the law of supply and demand. So long as farmers insist on growing enly the bread, grains, cotton, tobaccoand cattle, and to neglect other products which are needed, which we import at a cost of more than two hundred million dollars annually, just so long will the lamentation over low prices continue. Diversification is essential to agricultural salvation. Here is just where the farmers of

Here is just where the farmers o this State are particularly favored Our grapes, raisins, oranges, lemons limes, olives, walnuts, apricots and a score of other products are outside of competition in the United States, except in a portion of Arizona, while the area upon which they are grown is so limited, and the demand so much greater than the supply, that there is no fear of over-production, in this generation; at least. This fact alone must result in drawing hundreds of thousands to California during the next decade, from the class of farmers who have been vainly trying to keep

The committee on port dues reported it o be impracticable to completely abolish to be inpracticable to completely abolish the charges now imposed on vessels, and made recommendations as follows, which were adopted: That all port dues be merged in a single one, to be known as tonnage dues; this charge to be assessed upon the total carrying capacity of the vessel, each government to fix for itself the amount to be charged, but with due regard to the general policy of the conference upon the subject, which is to facilitate and favor navigation; that there be excepted dues charged or to be charged under unexpired contracts with private companies; that the following be exempt from tonnage dues: transports and vessels of var, ressels of less than wenty-five tona vessels which shall have been compelled to put into port by reason of damage suffered at sea, yachts and other pleasure.

pelled to put into port by reason of damage suffered at sea, yachts and other pleasure busts.

The conference at the time of adjournment had under consideration the report of the committee on banking. It says that the future development of commercial relations will depend as largely on the development of international banking facilities at one growth of international banking facilities at one growth of the result of the condition. The foreign commerce of the West Indies, Sexico, South and Central Americal at years amounted to $1,085,545,000 in United States gold. The total exchanges of commodities between the United States and coughtles of the south aggregated $28,002,408. Foreign banks reaped a profit on commissions of three-fourths of 1 percent on a large proportion of these sums, which, together with interest and difference in exchange, might be saved to the several countries.

The report recommends the passage of a law by the United States incorporating an international American bank with ample capital, with the privilege on the part of citizens of the several countries represented in the conference to take shares in such bank pro rata to their foreign commerce. The bank should have no power to emit circulating bank notes, but should have all other powers now enjoyed by national banks of the United States as to deposits and discounts, issuing letters of credit, making loans etc., and generally to do whatever can already be done by the great banking firms, which are carrying on business under the laws of general partnership. The report recommends to the governments represented the granting of concessions for international banking, and especially a bank organized as above, with branches or agercals in the several countries.

Chairman Conger of Coinage Committee explained the Windom bill as modified. He believed the measure bill as modified. He believed the measure strong and calculated to meet the public de-mand for a liberal supply of money. Representative Walker advised the Republicans to support the committee bill. In the course of the debate the Senate committee's proposition to coin $4,500,000 in silvantonathly was discussed and found some adherents. One of the objections made to the Rouse committee's bill was that there was no inducement for any our to sell silver to the treasury at the market price, as he could more readily sell at the searest market to individuals. A feature of the debate was the remarkable grangth of the free-coinage men, and, as a state run member said, "The House is higherently restrained from passing a free-gotten bill only by fear of a Presidential veto," 12

A NOTED CASE.

DID YOUNG HATCH MURDER HIS UNCLE?

Fourth Day of the Great Colorado Trial-The Case for the Prosecution Drawing to a Close.

By Telegraph to The Times. COLORADO SPRINGS (Colo.), April 10.— By the Associated Press. | When the District Court adjourned at 6 o'clock this even cution in the Hatch murde night session was to be held to conclud that side of the case. All day long the courtroom has been thronged, despite the fact that it was the fourth day of the trial. Among the new additions to the little group on the prosecuting side of the court sat one of the two sons of Henry Hatch, who came on from Goshen, and last night his mother at some distance away from him, and but for from Goshen, and last night his mother sat at some distance away from him, and but for the knowledge possessed by a few that they were mother and son, none would have known from any actions that they were acquainted with each other.

The first witness on the stand this morning was Keegan, the locating agent, who had driven C. W. Hatch out into the country. The cross-examination took up alarge part of the morning, and was largely directed toward uncovering his past life. Frequent objections were made on the part of the prosecution.

The next witness was O. H. McDonald. landlord-of the hotel at Flagler. The chief point made by him was that he had not heard Hatch come to the hotel on the night of saturday and he felt sure he would have heard him if he had come. He did not think that Hatch had slept there that night, and when the latter paid his bill next day it was 31, which did not include anything but three meals. The next time witness saw him was at 5 or 6 o'clock the next morning, when a noise in the hotel office aroused him, and on roing in hessaw Hatch.

Frank McDonaid, son of the test witness. 13 years old, was called, but his frequent contradictions took away much of the weight of his testimony. He said he slept in a room with two beds on Saturday night; he had not noticed whether the other bed was occupied. This is the bed supposed to have been occupied by Hatch. Mrs. McDonaid was called and corroborated her husband's testimony.

Donaid was called and corroborated her husband's testimony.

S. H. Hendricks kept the hotel at Siebert in which C. H. Hatch stopped on Sunday. The chief point made by film was a conversation in which Hatch had said in talking about land: "in case of the death of the holder of a claim, what becomes of the prelimption?" Witness would not say that those were the exact words, but they were something like that.

The only witness placed on the stand this evening was Dr. Smith of this city, who gave expart testimony as to the cause of death in cases in which the circumstances and pathological conditions were similar to those in the case of Hatch. He said apoplexy would, in his opinion, without more knowledge about the case, probably have been the cause, but admitted on cross-examination that to state positive ppinion he would have to know the condi-tion of the heart and kidneys, which were not examined at Hatch's post-mortem. The urt adjourned until ton

A Question of Arithmetic Between Messrs. Sherman and Eustis.

The President pro tem.: Until completed.

The President pro tem.: Until completed.

Mr. Hale gave notice that as soon as the Montana matter is disposed of he would ask the Senate to take up and complete the Chinese Enumeration Bill.

The Montana election case was again taken up. Mr. Call addressed the Senate in opposition to the report of the majority of the committee declaring the Republican claimants, Sanders and Power, entitled to the seats.

At the conclusion of Mr. Call's speech Mr. Hoar spoke in support of the majority report.

Mr. Gray replied to Mr. Hoar, and then Mr. Teller addressed the Senate. He regarded the question not from a partiant the proper termination of which dependent the orderly behavior of the Senate in the future. The question was whether Monatan should be allowed to select her owner representatives. The plain logic of the arrow the selection of Senate in the future of the Senate in the future. The plain logic of the arrow the selection of Senate should be allowed to select the orderly behavior of the make a selection was reserved to the Senate. From that he dissented. Such a doctrine would lead to chaos and confusion. What, he asked, we should not express the will of the people. A good many Senators on his side of the chamber and the selection of Senators did ofto express the will of the people. He was not insensible to the great wrong inflicted on the senate of these States, but he had only been able to find anywhere, under the Corping to the will of the people. many of them were, they could not afford to insist that such a power should be exercised by the Senate. Whether the returning board of Montana exercised its authority properly or not was not a question for the Senate, it was a question for the Legislature of Montana.

Mr. Turple held that in the Indiana case the Legislature of Montana has not passed judicially upon the contested seats, whereas the Legislature of Montana has not passed judicially upon the contested seats in Silver Bow county, If it had done so there would have been no dispute in the case.

Mr. Sherman said he found all the facts sufficiently stated in the minority report to control his judgmant. He read three paragraphs from the minority report and said it was apparent therefrom that as to the five Representatives from Silver Bow county, neither set had certificates according to form. The Senate of Montana was a tie and in the House there were 25 Republican members and 24 Democratic members about whose rights to seats there was no question. There was, therefore, a Republican majority on joint ballot, or if the contest over Silver Bow county had come to be decided by the House, there was a majority on the Republican side by which the Republican contestants could have been seated. These simple facts, he thought, contained all the elements of a just decision in the matter, and showed that the Republican claimants for seats in the Senate has a majority on the House, without any reference to the members from Silver Bow county.

Messrs. Edmunds and Eustis had a brief personal tilt, based on Mr. Edmunds's remarks made a couple of weeks ago. Mr. Eustis then argued on the Montana matter bers from Silver Bow county.

Mr. Shorman asked whether the 25 Republicans of the House did not constitute a majority of that body.

Mr. Eustis admitted that numerically 25 was more than 24; but added that 25 did not make a quorum, and in a constitutional meaning 35 was not a larger number than 34 when a quorum was 28. He went on to relate some matters within his own expe he would like to think over it before undertaking to answer it.

"That was precisely." Mr. Kenna said, "the question that presented itself in the Montana case." Partial responses to the question were made by several Scuators, but Mr. Kenna said none of them came straight to the point.

Held for Forgery and Lodged Be-hind the Bars.

J. A. McCusker, the young lawyer arrested several days ago on a charge of forgery, he having forged the name of H. P. Gregory & Co. to an order for a rebate of taxes, amounting to $32, was examined before Justice Austin yesterday afternoon. The people were represented by Assistant District At-

Among the witnesses examined were City Treasurer Johnson, City Auditor Lopez, his deputy, Fred J. Teale, City Clerk Teed and J. J. The forged document was introduced in eyidence, and all the city officials identified McCusker as the only man who had had any connection with it, he having presented the demand and received the money on it. Mr. Keith testified that no one but himself was authorized to sign the firm's name, and he had not done so, nor had his brother, who had preceded him as Gregory's agent in this city.

When the State rested, Mr. del Valle moved that the defendant be discharged, claiming that it had not been shown that his client forged the name, or that he had any connection with it. Justice Austin could not see the matter in this light, however. He said that it was perfectly plain that a forgery had been committed, and the circumstances were such as to warrant the belief thas McCusker was guilty of Mr. del Valle asked if the old bond would remain in force, when Justice Austin said it could stand if it was desired. Mr. del Valle semarked the thought it might be better to have some one else on the bond, and he wished to withdraw, at the same time taking up his hat, preparatory to leaving the courtroom. McCusker started to follow, when he was stopped by the bailiff, who reminded him that he was a prisoner and compelled him to take his seat.

Later McCusker made a tour of the city, in charge of an officer, looking up bondsmen, but was unsuccessful, and was finally brought back to the station; where he was allowed to sit around until 9:30 o'clock, when he was booked and put behind the bars.

The theory is that McCusker, who has been attending to the collection of tax rebates, discovered that Gregory & Co. had $32 coming to them. He accordingly called on the agent, fir. SOME FALLACIES

Which the Chamber of Commerc

Gen. N. P. Chipman of San Francisco is getting out a report of fruit culture in California, in which he compares the northern with the southern climate, and says there is no difference to speak of between Southern California and northern citrus belt. edition has been already filed with the State Board of Agriculture, but they will not be distributed, for the reason that the Chamber of Commerce of this end of the State has made a kick against the book, and Gen. Chipman has consented to revise it. The Cham-ber of Commerce of this city has pre-pared the following statement of corrections, which paper is now in the hands of Gen. Chipman, to whom it is addressed:

Your tables of the average and lowest temperatures at given noints are valuable, but they are not full enough to enable the inquirer to settle the question as to the adaptability of a olim to for citrus-fruit cutture. Citrus trees endure a greater degree of coid in some locations than in others which show about the same average and extremes of temperature, because, mainly, if not altogether, in the former the greater dryness of the atmosphere renders the effect of cold less injurious than in the latter.

the effect of cold less injurious than in the latter.

Now, statistics show that the temperature of our valley between Los Angeles and the sea has a mider average and a higher lowest degree than like situations at the north; and it is certain that in that region citrus fruits are successfully raised, for hundreds of carloads are shipped thence at a profit, while none are raised in similar situations at the north. In fact, oranges are grown here on the very borders of the ocean at Wilmington and at Long Beach, and profitably. This is the region of mider temperature, though with a moist climate, compared to the interior—a clim te similar in respect to degree of moisture to the Sacramento Valley.

Again, at Riverside, where your tables pared to the interior—a clim te similar in respect to degree of moisture to the Sacramento Valley.

Again, at Riverside, where your tables show a lower degree of temperature, by I than in the Sacramento Valley, the most successful citrus culture is carried on. The greater success there is not attributable to the superior adaptability of the soil over other parts of the territory lying between the sea and that point, and not to the superior intelligence and care exercised in the pursuit. The climate between the superior intelligence and care exercised in the pursuit. The climate permits and protects the growth of citrus fruits by its extreme dryness, a characteristic of all our interior region of Southern California, and in which it is not paralleled probably by any citrus-growing district at the north.

The fact that citrus fruits ripen earlier is the northern part of the State than in the southern, does not establish its superiority to, or even its equality with the southern part of the State than in the southern, does not establish its superiority to, or even its equality with the southern part of the State than in the foundary does not establish its superiority to, or even its equality with the southern part of the State than in the southern, does not establish its superiority to, or even its equality with the southern part of the State in their profitable culture, and still less does it prove a similarity of climate. The same facts exist with regard to Florida, and yet no one will claim that the climates are "identical" or very similar. The lowest degree of temperature for the Sacramento Valley is shown to be 18". So low a degree of temperature in Florida i believe almost always results very disastrously to citrus culture in that State. Degrees of cold of even less intensity on the part of the weather there usually do great damage, and such weather is experienced there every few years.

In Southern California the temperature has never yet gones as of seriously affect the citrus crop.

In view of the above f at the same elevation and in the same relative position to the ocean." and also on page 15, tast paragraph, that "The climate is generally alike favorable in both regions," are hardly yet proven and if this is the case the other statements therein may be misleading. Under "Tree and Vine Planting," on page 13, if the report would show in the tables and acreage of vines and trees, reported by the Chamber of Commerce for Los Angeles county, it would be more satisfactory. The authority can be stated in a m rginal note if necessary. The tables will be referred to many times while the text is examined but once.

In other respects the report is most admir-able, and both the State board and the whole State are greatly indebted to you for it.

Union Pacific was the great of the day, and its marked activity was in strong contrast to the duliness and apathy which existed in other stocks. The ment of stock, in comparison with the amount of business done, was extremely narrow, and its full range for the day was only % per cent. A drive at Missouri Pacific in the last hour affected the whole market, and the close was dull and heavy, generally at insignificant changes for the day.

BRILLIANT SOCIAL RECEPTION AT THE MARKHAM CASA.

A Large Gathering of the Home Friends of Col. and Mrs. H. H. Markham-Music, Flowers, Light and Refreshments-Conversation -The Guests.

Last evening the commodious Markham residence on Pasadena avenue was thrown open to the numerous friends and social acquaintances of Col. and Mrs. Markham, who gave a most charming reception.

The artistic beauty of the interior of the large residence counted for not a little in the success of the entertainment. Entering the main hallway, it could be seen at a glance that every variety of Pasadena's beautiful flowers was present, here and there displayed in tasteful decorations. The city's social circles were largely represented. in tasteful decorations. The city's secial circles were largely represented. Every mantel in the house was lavishly decorated with flowers. A bank of green shrubbery and palms was at the foot of the handsome cherry and redwood stairway, down which came in melodious wavelets the soft, sweet strains of music throughout the entire evening. The various apartments opening into the main hall, crowded with ladies and gentlemen, rendered the scene most effective and most beautiful. The sitting-room, finished off in the light birdseye maple, the libraries in black walnut, the spacious dining-room of natural oak, and the lovely reception-room in the bright primavers wood finish. All these different apartments, opening into one, composed a grand salou, striking in its variety, yet harmonious in its unity. Especially handsome was the high, French plate mantel, artistically bedded with the Gold of Ophir roses and the snow-white calla ilines, in the main hall. And the walk leading up to the brightly-illuminated house was uniquely marked with colored lanterns, as were the galleries, thus making a very garden of oriental fancy among the orange trees and blooming roses that flourish under the protection of a Southern Calliornia sky. protection of a Southern California

The Markham Rose. The Markham Rose.

[Sugosted by a recent "T.m.s" Cartoon]
In a vale which is swooning in beauty
At the feet of the peaks of snow,
There is rooted a beautiful flower
That is just beginn ng to blow;
It is one of the "hardiest bloomers"
That the flower man's catalogue shows,
And of course I need hardly remark that
It is known as the Markham rose.

It's the "shade" of a "town" that's "painted, Perhaps somewhat like blood that's bled, Or, if you want facts more specific, It's a magnificent cardinal red; And of all the radiant blossoms A blooming, I do not suppose
There's a posy so gay in this land today
As the beautiful Markbam rose.

And it's wonderful how it is spreading, This posy so rich and so rare! Why! from San Diego to Shasta It is biossoming overywhere!
At "the bay" its bright hues are respiendent
Up at Humboldt every mother's son know.
That there isn't a bloom in this flowery land
That equals the Markham rose.

Hence I'd say to you, gently and kindly,
In a sort of a fatherly way,
If you want to be right in the fashion—
Chic-debonnair—gaudy—ou fail—
Pin into your button-hole, chappies,
This flower that flutters and glows
O'er the breadths of this glorious climate,
Aud is known as the Markham rose!

Declined with Thanks.

The challenge to a joint discussion of the issues of the municipal cam-paign, from the central committee of paign, from the central committee of the People's party, has been replied to by the committee of the Citizens' movement, respectfully declining the invitation, and giving reasons there-for, among which is this center shot: We must be allowed, however, to express our surprise at the apparent change of heart which seems to have taken possession of the managers of your party, who now offer to associate with those whom they stigmatized such a short time ago as being too immoral and dishonorable to use the Tabernacie for a public meeting.

The response is signed by M. E. Wood, chairman, and J. W. Wood, secretary.

Two Big Meetings.
The central committee of the Citizens' party has authorized the following announcements for two big meet-
